

Lisa Marie Main

Director of Facilitator Training & Development

Pathways to Leadership® Facilitator

Lisa Marie Main is an accomplished leader, trainer, facilitator and executive coach with over 20 years experience.

“Servant leadership and social responsibility are strong passions for me. My goal is to help create a more harmonious and balanced world. Pathways to Leadership is a wonderful vehicle to do this while also building strong individuals and teams.”

Lisa became a Pathways to Leadership® facilitator in 2008, and in addition has assisted with several company projects. In 2010, she joins Angie Paccione as co-Director of Facilitator Training and Development.

Lisa Main comes to us from her own independent consulting and training company. She has an acute understanding of human dynamics and has enjoyed facilitating, training and coaching since 1985 in a variety of contexts. She has worked with clients in corporate, government, small business, NGOs, education, community and human services around the world.

A life-long learner and world traveler, Lisa earned a Masters Degree in Applied Behavioral Science with an emphasis on Leadership in Human Systems and Organizational Development, and was a Continuing Studies Instructor at Duke University.

Lisa resides with her family in Lakewood, Colorado, where they enjoy skiing, climbing, hiking and camping.
