

Dr. Steve Drury

Director

Pathways to Leadership® Master Facilitator

Steve Drury joined Pathways to Leadership Inc. in 2008, after a successful career as an independent executive and business coach and facilitator.

“Partnering with people who want to be great is one of my life’s passions. This passion is the reason that I’ve been called to both coaching and facilitating in my career. In particular, partnering with those who want to be great at facilitating for Pathways to Leadership Inc. is an added incentive because of the difference these people make in the world. “

Steve was originally recruited by Pathways to Leadership Inc. in 2007 to become an independent certified facilitator. He has conducted numerous Pathways programs for such clients as Owens-Illinois, Nestlé HealthCare Nutrition, Inc., International Truck and Engine, and Kellogg Company.

In 2009, he became a Director and in addition to his client facilitation work, he develops innovative methods for client participants to expand “Wellness” beyond the bounds of their individual teams and companies.

Steve is particularly skilled at seeing a person’s strengths and learning style, and has the ability to customize his facilitation approach to call out their strengths to apply to the situation at hand.

He is a graduate of the International Coach Federation and has a BS from the University of Georgia. Steve left a successful dentistry practice to follow his true calling as an executive and business coach in 2005.

He and his family (wife Laura and his two standard poodles) are active outdoors people who hike, bike and climb mountains.
